DEAL

A new public agency gathering several competencies to promote sustainable development in the archipelago of Guadeloupe

DIREN

A word from the Prefect Jean FABRE

"With regard to the French overseas territories, the state adapts itself to their specific needs and to the expectations of the concerned populations. Following the 2009 Conference entitled "Etats Généraux" and the measures taken by the inter-ministerial Commission on French Overseas Territories of November 6th, 2009, a new architecture of the state's services had become necessary. The Prime Minister's decree of May 18th, 2010 sets the modalities of the reorganization of the state's services in the French Overseas Departments and Regions."

In Guadeloupe, the services of the ministry of Ecology, Sustainable Development, Transport and Housing are represented by the Directorate of the Sea - which shelters the subdivision of the lighthouses and beacons of the DDE - and the Directorate of the Environment, Planning, and Housing. The missions carried out by this "DEAL" fall within the departmental and Regional jurisdictions. On January 1st 2011, the "DEAL" replaced the following state agencies: the DIREN, DDE and DRIRE.

The DEAL will implement policies, within its field of competencies, with regard to sustainable development, the environment and the sector of energy, Industrial safety, transport and the related infrastructures, housing and construction, urban and land planning, water management, waste management and sanitation, social housing projects and the economic recovery of the construction sector, the biodiversity, road safety and industrial sites safety.

GUIDELINES AND STRATEGIC MISSIONS To address the issues at stake in the archipelago of Guadeloupe.

Transversal missions

Promote sustainable development by adapting the decisions taken during the high-level conference on the environment entitled "Grenelle de l'Environnement"
Mobilize, and organize the existing knowledge and develop new expertise.

Specific Issues at stake in the territory

Making up for structural backwardness
Creating a balance between conservation of the environment and land management, particularly on the coastline.
Developing a culture of risks and reinforcing risk management policies
Developing relationships within the regional environment (the Caribbean)

Editorial

The ambition of the DEAL is to bring forth and support a harmonious development scheme of the archipelago of Guadeloupe, in collaboration with all the stakeholders.

The assets of the "new DEAL" - and its 330 staff members - are inherent to its variety of cultures of services, competencies, professional backgrounds, and expertise, cooperating with a vast network of stakeholders.

The DEAL will allow us to provide more efficient answers to face the issues at stake in Guadeloupe with regard to territory planning policies, making up for structural backwardness and lack of regional integration through the promotion of its expertise, mainly in the field of cooperation.

The organization of the strategic missions that I invite you to discover is the result of rounds of internal and external consultations and hearings, at the conclusion of which, "WE DARED TO INVENT" the DEAL to serve the people of Guadeloupe.

Daniel NICOLAS,
Director of the DEAL
